We Remember December 6th

The learning of December 6th, 2009 was a time when a handful of women and their male allies gathered in Ottawa to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the Montreal Massacre. It is a time when the world came together to remember the 14 women murdered in the École Polytechnique on December 6, 1989. It is a time when we reflected on the violence against women and girls that continues to claim their lives every day, and we stood in solidarity with women everywhere to call out violence and to support healing and reconciliation.

This year, we commemorate the 25th anniversary of the Montreal Massacre. The shock and grief of December 6th, 1989 have not been forgotten. When we reflect on that day, we are strike by the enormity of the loss of fourteen bright lives to senseless violence, and the loss of so many dreams and hopes. We remember the pain and sorrow that continues to affect so many individuals, families, and communities.
