

Canadian Labour Congress
Congrès du travail du Canada

Communiqué

For immediate release

Wednesday, November 26, 2014

MEDIA ADVISORY

Western University and Canadian Labour Congress to release survey results on domestic violence at work

OTTAWA – Western University’s Centre for Research and Education on Violence Against Women and Children (CREVAWC) and the Canadian Labour Congress will release findings from a groundbreaking survey that asked 8,429 workers about domestic violence and its impact on the workplace. The report will also be released at a concurrent news conference at Western University.

WHAT: News Conference

WHERE: Room 130S, Centre Block, Parliament Hill

WHEN 10:00 a.m., Thursday, November 27, 2014

WHO: Vicky Smallman, Director, Women’s and Human Rights, CLC
Barbara MacQuarrie, CREVAWC Community Director
Melissa Corbeil, domestic violence survivor
Hassan Yussuff, President, CLC
Nadine Wathen, Associate Professor, Western University’s Faculty of Information and Media Studies

CONTACT: Kerry Pither, Director of Communications, CLC
613-294-2203
kpither@clc-ctc.ca

Chantal St-Denis, National Representative, Communications, CLC
613-355-1962
cstdenis@clc-ctc.ca

ea:COPE*225