MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTORS

This past year was our 22nd year of operation with the centre receiving a renewal approval for a five-year term to 2020. We received a number of major grants that allowed us to take our work to a national and international stage. Funding from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC), the Public Health Agency of Canada (PHAC), and Ontario, has allowed us to enhance efforts to prevent domestic homicides on a national level with a focus on vulnerable populations, explore the importance of trauma-informed interventions for survivors of abuse, and understand and learn about the role of workplaces in addressing domestic violence. We are grateful for our many partners in the London community, and our alliance with research and partners in other provinces and countries. All our efforts remain focused on the same vision: a commitment to the development and application of knowledge on the prevention of violence against women and children through the promotion of innovation, collaborative relationships, and equality. This annual report highlights our efforts in 2015-2016 as reflected in various activities, grants and publications. We acknowledge the support of our partners, management committee, advisory committee, research associates, funders and our extended family in the Faculty of Education. As Centre Directors we appreciate the generous support of Western University that has helped to make the Centre for Research and Education on Violence Against Women & Children sustainable and a model for similar centres around the world.

PUBLIC & PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION CAMPAIGNS

CUT IT OUT

Cut It Out educates stylists and salon professionals about the basic warning signs of physical abuse, and helps them to be comfortable supporting clients who may be experiencing domestic violence. Cut It Out education sessions provide stylists and salon professionals with information and resources to reach out to their clients and connect them to supportive resources in the community. Salon employees are in a position to provide support given that they work in an environment where women feel comfortable. The Cut It Out program has focused on reaching students in cosmetology/beautician programs in high schools, colleges and private schools who are about to embark on their professional salon careers. For more information, visit www.cutitoutcanada.ca.

IT'S NOT RIGHT CAMPAIGN: CHANGING SOCIAL NORMS FOR BYSTANDERS OF ABUSE OF OLDER ADULTS

It's Not Right! Neighbours, Friends and Families for Older Adults campaign has been developed to educate and engage all Canadians on the issue of abuse and neglect of older adults, with funding support from the New Horizons Program of Human Resources Skill Development Canada. The campaign teaches everyone to recognize warning signs and risk factors and to learn small practical steps to intervene and provide support to victims. The campaign aims to create a society where everyone feels respected, valued, safe, and supported throughout their lives. This year marked the final year of the campaign and the activities of this project was culminated into a national conference held in Toronto in June 2015. For more information, visit www.itsnotright.ca.

KNOWLEDGE HUB: MAXIMIZING IMPACT BY CONNECTING RESEARCH AND PRACTICE IN TRAUMA-INFORMED HEALTH PROMOTION

Supporting the Health of Victims of Domestic Violence and Child Abuse through Community Programs is an investment of the Public Health Agency of Canada. This initiative supports projects addressing the health needs of victims/survivors and/or those at risk of domestic violence and child abuse. These projects bring a trauma-informed lens to promote the health and well-being of women, children and youth who have experienced family violence. To date, seven projects have been funded through this initiative, including the Knowledge Hub. The Knowledge Hub connects community-based projects and enhances the value of each project by facilitating opportunities for collaborative learning and knowledge construction through a Community of Practice. New findings will be disseminated to the broader community with the view to advance practice and policies related to trauma-informed health promotion and family violence. External evaluation of the Knowledge Hub includes qualitative and quantitative analysis. For more information, visit: www.vawlearningnetwork.ca/knowledge-hub

LEARNING NETWORK

The Learning Network is a provincial knowledge translation, exchange and mobilization initiative focusing on the continuum of violence against women. It flows from the recommendations of the Domestic Violence Advisory Council and is funded through Ontario. The Learning Network benefits from the support and input of a Provincial Resource Group consisting of members of Violence Against Women organizations with a provincial mandate or reach, and women with lived experience of violence. This year the Learning Network co-hosted a Knowledge Exchange on the Intersections of Domestic Violence and Sexual Violence, and developed numerous resources including issue-based newsletters on Sexual and Gender-based Harassment, Intersectionality, Femicide, and Boys' Victimization and Adult IPV Perpetration—Opportunities for Prevention across the Life Course. In partnership with Western's Housing Department, Rez Life, the Learning Network co-developed: Cycling Through Consent, an engagement and awareness video on sexual consent that has over 20 thousand views. For more information, visit:

www.vawlearningnetwork.ca

MAKE IT OUR BUSINESS

Make It Our Business (MIOB) takes the original mandate of the Neighbours, Friends and Families public education campaign to teach all Ontarians to recognize warning signs and risk factors of domestic violence into workplaces. This initiative is supported with funding from Ontario. MIOB connects local experts with employers to optimize existing resources by building relationships between the public, private, and not-for-profit sectors. MIOB uses a "whole company" change model focusing on pro-social bystander approaches to address social norms that enable or inhibit violence against women and to grow the in-house capacity of partnering organizations to continue the education process after MIOB training. MIOB generates awareness, engages leadership and provides co-workers with the ability to recognize potential warning signs and abuse along with practical tools to respond. MIOB is the proud recipient of the 2015 Avon Communications Award in the Innovative Campaign Award category. For more information, visit: www.makeitourbusiness.com.

NEIGHBOURS, FRIENDS AND FAMILIES

The simple, but powerful message that we all have a role to play in ending woman abuse is at the heart of this campaign. Since repeated violence and potentially lethal violence can often be predicted, lives can be saved with appropriate and timely interventions. The Neighbours, Friends and Families education campaign provides information to the general public on how to recognize woman abuse, how to offer support, and where to turn for help that is accessible and usable to all communities across the province. The campaign teaches about small steps we can all take to help keep a neighbour, friend, or family member safe. This year we have focused our efforts on extending our reach through social media. TRAINING RESOURCES

ADVANCED CERTIFICATE IN GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE, WESTERN CONTINUING STUDIES

The Advanced Certificate in Gender-Based Violence, developed by the Centre for Research & Education on Violence Against Women & Children, is offered through Western Continuing Studies to develop practical knowledge and skills for addressing gender-based violence in various settings. The program provides an interactive learning experience in specialized knowledge and skills for those who are/will be working in human resources, occupational health and safety, social work, social service, health, education and justice settings. The program offers ten courses. Students must successfully complete any five courses to obtain the certificate.

ONLINE TRAINING MODULES

DOCUMENT, MONITOR, COLLABORATE: A PRIMER ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE RISK ASSESSMENT & MANAGEMENT

Document, Monitor, Collaborate offers an introduction to domestic violence risk assessment, risk management and safety planning for professionals in social work and social services, education, health, and union settings. This one-hour course focuses on identifying warning signs and risk factors for domestic violence, learning how to have a conversation with a person you may be concerned about, and learning about when to reach out to other resources for collaboration and support. A certificate is provided upon completion.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE IN THE WORKPLACE

Many work places struggle as they try to develop and implement policies and procedures to prevent and address domestic violence in the workplace. The Domestic Violence in the Workplace training helps to prepare everyone in the workplace to recognize, respond, and refer when workers are experiencing domestic violence. These are key components of professional development for all members of any workplace environment while meeting requirements of Bill 168. A certificate is provided upon completion.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE RISK ASSESSMENT AND MANAGEMENT

The Domestic Violence Risk Assessment and Management course emphasizes the importance of collaboration for effective risk assessment and management. Through scenario based learning, participants will learn how to identify high risk situations and how to collaborate with other organizations and services to ensure that situations are appropriately monitored and risk is managed. A certificate is provided upon completion.

RESPONDING TO DISCLOSURES OF SEXUAL VIOLENCE

The Responding to Disclosures of Sexual Violence training has been developed to assist those working in law enforcement, social work, and education sectors to develop effective responses to victims/survivors who report or disclose experiences of sexual violence. Participants will learn how to provide effective first responses to a report or disclosure of sexual violence through scenario based learning. Effective first responses are critical to sustain support and intervention for survivors. A certificate is provided upon completion.

NEIGHBOURS, FRIENDS AND FAMILIES: WORKING TOGETHER TO END ABUSE

The Neighbours, Friends and Families: Working together to end abuse webinar provides an introductory understanding of woman abuse and teaches participants the basics of how to recognize warning signs and signs of high risk, how to talk to someone you think might be experiencing domestic violence, and how to make an appropriate referral.

RESEARCH

CANADIAN DOMESTIC HOMICIDE PREVENTION INITIATIVE WITH VULNERABLE POPULATIONS

The Canadian Domestic Homicide Prevention Initiative with Vulnerable Populations (CDHPIVP) was launched in July 2015. The CDHPIVP is a five-year partnership grant funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC). The co-directors of the initiative are Dr. Peter Jaffe from the Centre for Research and Education on Violence Against Women and Children (CREVAWC) and Dr. Myrna Dawson from the Centre for the Study of Social and Legal Responses to Violence (CSSLRV) at the University of Guelph. The goal of the grant is to create a national partnership that will foster collaborative, cross-sectorial research to prevent domestic homicides and reduce domestic violence in general. The project will identify unique individual and community-level risk factors, which may increase exposure to domestic violence for vulnerable populations (i.e., Aboriginal communities; rural, remote and Northern communities; immigrant and refugees; and children living with domestic violence) and understand the barriers to effective risk management and safety planning within these populations. This initiative will establish collaborative, multi-disciplinary partnerships among domestic violence death review committees, academic research centres on violence against women & children, and other partners/organizations who serve vulnerable populations and who are interested in reducing domestic violence and homicide in their jurisdictions. The CDHPIVP will create a national domestic homicide database that will provide a central repository for data on this topic and promote future research and ensure evidence-based decision-making in risk assessment and management strategies across Canada. The CDHPIVP will conduct research to inform the development of culturally-relevant strategies for domestic homicide risk assessment, risk management, and safety planning with vulnerable populations. For more information, visit: www.cdhpi.ca.

OAITH FOUNDATIONS OF VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN ONLINE TRAINING PROGRAM EVALUATION

With funding from OAITH, the Centre used a quasi-experimental design deploying quantitative and qualitative methods to evaluate OAITH's 4-week violence against women online training program. The program covers a wide range of topics that are important for building a strong VAW practice based in feminist anti-violence principles and values. Findings provide evidence demonstrating program effectiveness as well as for the core competencies of domestic violence training (e.g., recognizing the characteristics of violence, risk reduction). For the full report visit: www.vawlearningnetwork.ca/sites/vawlearningnetwork.ca/files/OAITH-foundations-of-VAW-online-training-program-evaluation.1.pdf

THE IMPACT OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE ON WORKERS AND WORKPLACES

With funding from the Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC), the Centre was charged with creating a Canadian-led international network of researchers, domestic violence experts, health and labour organizations, and employers to conduct research and mobilize knowledge about the impacts of domestic violence in the workplace. The primary goal of the network is to accelerate the development of the emerging knowledge base on this issue.

For a report CREVAWC conducted with the Canadian Labour Congress on the impact of domestic violence on workers, visit: http://www.learningtoendabuse.ca/sites/default/files/DVWork_Survey_Report_2014_EN.pdf
